
The Active Learning Network for Accountability and Performance in Humanitarian Action (ALNAP) is a global network for advancing humanitarian learning. Our goal is for all humanitarians to benefit from our sector's collective experience.

www.alnap.org

Acknowledgements

ALNAP is grateful to the communities affected by crisis, local government actors, and local, national and international humanitarian actors who participated in the key informant and focus group discussions in Mali and South Sudan. We also thank the teams at REACH who conducted data collection for this study and Margot Fortin and Guillaume Pocard for their management support.

Finally, thanks to the ALNAP Secretariat for contributing to the production of this report, including research management by Jennifer Doherty and Alice Obrecht, communications support from Wairimu Wanjau, Molly Maple and Homam Daoud, and project management from Anna-Louise van de Merwe.

Suggested citation

ALNAP (2025) Assessing the impact of US funding cuts on communities and humanitarian response: case studies from South Sudan and Mali. London: ODI Global/ALNAP.

Cover image

Credit: Bob Brewer (Unsplash)

© ALNAP/ODI Global 2025

Communications management

Wairimu Wanjau, Molly Maple

Editorial

Jo Fottrell

Design

Alice Hale